From the Author

If you had asked me a year ago if I thought I would be launching a book today, I would have probably dismissed the idea. For the longest time, I didn't think I had any unique business knowledge until someone said to me, "Do you realize how successful you are? Starting a business is hard work and you've built not one, not two, not three, but four profitable online businesses." I had never really considered writing about business because I've always been too busy building my company, but there's been a steadily growing stream of people that have asked me about how I've built my Internet businesses. I couldn't possibly mentor everyone who's asked me to help them make money online, so I did the next best thing. I wrote a book so that everyone who wants to benefit from the knowledge I've gained while building my online business can do so. In my book, 40 Rules for Internet Business Success, you'll learn the strategies I use to identify, build and launch my online businesses. You'll learn the tactics I've used to get all four of my businesses to six figures in annual revenue. You'll also learn how to systematize, delegate and automate major portions of your business so that you actually enjoy the work that you're doing. Finally, the book is peppered with stories from my businesses so that you can grow your business faster and avoid many of the mistakes that I've made along the way.
