Clinical Judgement and Decision Making for Nursing Students (Transforming Nursing Practice Series) By Mooi Standing

Clinical decision-making is an indispensable facet of professional nursing care. In order to become a registered nurse it is essential that the student develops sound decision-making skills in order to deal with the challenges ahead. This book enables pre-registration nursing students to understand, develop and apply these skills in order to practise safely and effectively. The structure of the book helps students to progress in effective decision-making right from the first to the final year of their programme. The book links theory to realistic experiences and clinical scenarios to show student nurses how to use these skills in practice.

Key features:

- provides practical ways designed to help student nurses reach sound and safe decisions
- uses active learning features and activities that promote the use of evidence, critical enquiry, reflection and patient-centred care
- linked to the latest NMC Standards and Essential Skills Clusters

Editorial Review

Review

As a student nurse I often learn about using evidence based practice within clinical areas, which is why this book was ideal for me to read as a second year nursing student. I especially enjoyed the fact that it was aimed at student nurses in particular, as I feel like I could apply each aspect of the book to my current progress along my course. I feel as though it has been really well thought out and it uses appropriate language for the reader to understand. [...] This book has really helped me when writing assignments and even with my personal development record. (Emma Connolly, Children's and Young People Student Nurse, University of Salford)
